EEA agreement: amending annexes I (phytosanitary and veterinary) and II (standards, testing and certification)

This decision by the European Economic Area Joint Committee (No 12/94 of 28 September 1994) sought to amend Annex I (Veterinary and phytosanitary matters) and Annex II (Technical regulations, standards testing and certification) to the EEA Agreement. This involved taking account of the technical amendments made to a number of Community legislative texts on this issue, in which Annexes I and II of the EEA Agreement were not mentioned. It was thus important to supplement the reference texts of the EEA Agreement, since the amendments involved had been examined together by all the members of the EEA (Community and EFTA countries). Given that this decision by the EEA Joint Committee supplemented the EEA Agreement itself, the Council of the European Union considered that the decision should be approved by itself after having received the opinion of the European Parliament. ?

EEA agreement: amending annexes I (phytosanitary and veterinary) and II (standards, testing and certification)

The Committee unanimously adopted the report on the five decisions of the EEA Joint Committee amending protocol 31 of the EEA Agreement on cooperation in sectors which lie outside the four liberties: - Annex XXII (rights of undertakings); - Annex I (veterinary and phytosanitary matters); - Annex II (technical regulations, standards, tests and certification) of the same Agreement. The Committee proposed that Parliament should give its assent to these decisions. It was pointed out that Parliament had been referred to by the Council on the basis of consultation (Article 228 of the Treaty). The Titley report would be discussed in the plenary session of Wednesday 16 November as part of a joint discussion involving the Kristoffersen report on certain arrangements for the application of the EEA Agreement. ?

Parliament approved the Joint Committee's proposal for a decision, without amendment. ?
