Merger control, green paper (amend. regul. 4064/89/EEC)

OBJECTIVE: to launch a far-reaching debate, between now and 31 March 1996, with a view to adapting the rules on the monitoring of company mergers in order to bring them into line with the realities of the single market. SUBSTANCE: the Commission Green Paper provides a detailed description of the existing regulatory framework governing the monitoring of mergers both at Community level and within the Member States. It then proposes a set of options to be discussed, which may be summarized as follows: - a reduction in the thresholds at which the Commission assumes exclusive control, namely a worldwide turnover of ECU 2 billion (instead of 5 billion) and a Community-wide threshold of ECU 100 million (instead of ECU 250 million) for each of at least two companies involved; - failing such a reduction in the thresholds, exclusive control by the Commission in the case of mergers lying between the existing thresholds and the new proposed thresholds and which must be notified to several national competition control bodies (problem of multiple notification); - a series of options making it possible to improve the treatment of joint companies which do not fall within the scope of the merger rules but, rather, under the general competition policy rules (Article 85 of the EC Treaty). One possible solution would be to deal with such cases on the basis of the same timescales as in the case of mergers (i.e. a favourable response within one month of notification in uncontested cases and a second period of four months in problematic cases). A number of procedural improvements are proposed, relating to acceptance of commitments in the first phase of investigation. Lastly, proposals are put forward concerning simplification of the method for calculating the turnover of financial and credit institutions and the method used for the geographic allocation of turnover. ?

Merger control, green paper (amend. regul. 4064/89/EEC)

Merger control measures must ensure and promote fair and effective competition, with particular emphasis on the requirements of SMEs. Account must also be taken, however, of the need to develop economic and productive structures for the purpose of ensuring ever-greater competitiveness for the overall Community economy on world markets. In any case, Community merger control must be considered within the context of the world economy, in order to take account of an ever-increasingly competitive world situation. The Committee recommends that discussions should not be confined to certain participants. They should involve all the interested parties, and should also deal with the social effects of restructuring the economy. The ESC confirms the validity of the "one-stop shop" principle, which guarantees uniform rules, conditions and criteria for assessment and thus ensures certainty in legal relations, and recommends a modern simplification of the formalities and clearer legislation. The Committee favours a lowering of the thresholds. If agreement cannot be reached on lowering the thresholds to ECU 2 billion (world turnover) and ECU 100 million (Community turnover), an intermediate figure could be considered. At all events, a decision needs to be taken without further delay. If no lowering of the thresholds can be agreed upon, then alternative ways of solving the multiple notification problem (which the Commission is examining in detail) could produce constructive results. The ESC considers it logical that concentrations subject to multiple notifications which are not covered by Article 2 of Regulation 4064/89 be examined at Community level. For this it proposes a range of turnover thresholds to establish the existence of "significant" cross-border effects.?

Merger control, green paper (amend. regul. 4064/89/EEC)

The committee adopted the report on the monitoring of company mergers. The committee advocated a significant reduction in thresholds, as it had reaffirmed in various resolutions. In view of Council's resistance to too drastic a reduction, it called on it to approve at least the compromise proposed by the Commission. It also called for the scheme to apply both to concentrative joint ventures and cooperatives. Finally, it called on the Commission to carry out a critical review of the exception to the two-thirds rule. This area is currently governed by a regulation which entered into force in 1990 and which stipulates that the Commission is responsible for mergers as soon as they have a Community dimension, as defined on the basis of the annual turnover of the companies. At present, in order to fall within the scope of the regulation, the combined worldwide turnover of companies party to a merger must exceed ECU 5 billion and the Community turnover of at least two of these companies must exceed ECU 250 million. Mergers with a significant cross-border impact may be excluded from the scope of the regulation if the companies involved achieve over two-thirds of their Community turnover in one and the same member state. Given the increase in national control systems since 1989 and the problems which have arisen as a result, especially in the case of multiple notifications, the Commission has proposed a new approach. In its Green Paper, the Commission proposes a linear reduction in the thresholds to 2 billion and 100 million. An alternative would be to apply this reduction solely to mergers involving companies in three Member States. In view of the resistance expected from the Council, it finally opted for a combined approach: - a reduction in current worldwide and Community thresholds to ECU 3 billion and 150 million and - for mergers which would be subject to examination in at least three Member States, thresholds of ECU 2 billion and 100 million. The Commission also proposes to maintain the exception to the two-thirds rule. Given its proposal for a resolution on the Green Paper, the Economic and Monetary Committee approved the Commission proposal on the amendment to the rules on the monitoring of company mergers.?

In adopting the report by Mr Bernhard RAPKAY (PSE, D) on the Commission's Green Paper on the review of the merger regulation, Parliament advocated a significant reduction of the thresholds, and specifically a reduction to ECU 2 billion of worldwide turnover and ECU 100 million of Community turnover. In view of the Council's resistance to too drastic a reduction, Parliament called on it to approve at least the figures now proposed of ECU 3 billion of worldwide turnover and ECU 150 million of Community turnover. It also called on the Commission to review the two-thirds rule critically. ?
