EC/Guinea fisheries agreement: protocol for the period from 1st January 1994 to 31st December 1995

This proposal for a regulation aimed to enable the Council to adopt a protocol on fisheries and the corresponding technical and financial conditions, agreed between Guinea and the Community for the period from 1 January 1994 to 31 December 1995. This protocol provided for the following fishing opportunities: - trawlers: 4 200 GRT/month as an annual average, which could be increased at the Community's request in successive tranches of 1 000 GRT/month as an annual average; - freezer tuna seiners: 24 vessels; - pole-and-line tuna boats: 10 vessels; - surface longliners: 5 vessels. The financial compensation granted by the Community to the Republic of Guinea was set at ECU 1 700 000, revisable upwards on a "pro rata temporis" basis, if the possibility of increasing the trawler tonnage was used. The sum of ECU 450 000 was also to be paid to Guinea for the financing of a scientific and technical programme which was intended to improve knowledge on fishing in the exclusive economic zone of Guinea. Finally, grants for study and practical training courses, to the maximum amount of ECU 550 000, were to be made available to the fishing authorities of the Republic of Guinea. ?

EC/Guinea fisheries agreement: protocol for the period from 1st January 1994 to 31st December 1995

The report on the renewal of the fisheries protocol with the Republic of Guinea was unanimously adopted. The Members approved several amendments aimed at ensuring appropriate financial monitoring of the agreement, particularly through greater information for the European Parliament (the EP called on the Commission to submit by 15 May every year a report on the implementation of this agreement). Moreover, before the expiry of the protocol and before the conclusion of any renewal agreement, the Commission should submit to Parliament and the Council a comprehensive report on the utilisation and conditions of implementation of the agreement, with regard to both the fisheries and the scientific aspects, as well as on its impact on vocational training. Finally, Parliament asked that before the expiry of the protocol, it be provided with a comprehensive statement of payments made by the Community in respect of this agreement. On the basis of these various reports, the Council could then authorise the Commission, after consultation of the European Parliament, to hold negotiations on new protocols to implement the EC-Guinea fisheries agreement. ?

EC/Guinea fisheries agreement: protocol for the period from 1st January 1994 to 31st December

The European Parliament approved this proposal for a regulation with the following amendments: - before the expiry of the protocol a report on the scientific activities financed in the context thereof should be presented along with an assessment of the state of fisheries resources; - by 15 May every year the Commission should submit to the EP a detailed report on the implementation of the EC/Guinea fisheries agreement, and during the final year of its validity (and before the conclusion of any renewal agreement) it should submit to the EP and the Council a report on the conditions of implementation of the agreement. On the basis of the various assessment reports, the Council would authorise the Commission to hold new negotiations on the protocols implementing the fisheries agreement. ?
